More Racism Before Court

Restaurants and Restrooms Added to Segregation Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A challenge to segregation in restaurants and restrooms of city airports has been added to the Supreme Court's list of racial cases.

NEWS in BRIEF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has told its allies it sees no basis so far for serious negotiations with Russia on the Berlin crisis.

But U.S. officials feel that "exploratory" talks should continue with the Russians in the hope that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will modify his position.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today officially recognized the new rebel government of Syria.

It acted three days after the Soviet Union extended recognition to the Syrian regime, which two weeks ago broke away from the United Arab Republic.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Doctors said today the unprecedented visit by President Kennedy did a "world of good" for cancer-stricken Speaker Sam Rayburn.

But the 73-year-old veteran of Congress is still gravely ill and doctors have no way of telling how many days he has left.

DETROIT (UPI) — The end appeared in sight today to a week-old strike by 120,000 Ford Motor Co. workers.

United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther Monday night set a target date of Thursday for wrapping up a national contract. The union's 250-member National Ford Council will meet at that time to vote on the pact.

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Navy helicopters sped ahead of the fleet today to rescue 74 seamen — most of them Americans — from freighters driven aground by typhoon winds.

Forty-seven men were picked up from the 9,200-ton American freighter Pioneer Muse, stranded on tiny Kita Daito island Monday by Typhoon Violet. The other 27 came from the 7,300-ton Lebanese ship Sheikh, which ran aground eight days ago under the lash of an earlier typhoon.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Nationalist China has decided not to use its veto to bar Communist Outer Mongolia from membership in the United Nations, diplomatic sources reported today.

The sources said Nationalist Chinese officials have told foreign diplomats in Taipei that the government has decided the use of its veto in the Security Council could spell disaster for its U. N. seat.

IN DESERT VISIT

Senator, Congressmen Say Control Plan Sure

By FRED C. WEIGEL
United States Senator Clair Engle and a group of five Congressmen led by D. S. Saund, said yesterday that the Tachivah Flood control project is virtually a certainty for congressional approval of Federal funds next year.

The six Democratic solons gathered with members of the press and radio at a 12 noon press conference, and then attended a no-host luncheon at Desert Air Hotel, which drew some 100 persons.

The mention of the Tachivah Flood Control project brought about a heavy protest from Senator Engle and Congressman Saund about the way in which the Bureau of Budget is set up in Washington

The court accepted review of the appeal Monday in its first business session of the 1961-62 term. The case was brought under the federal civil rights law by Jesse Turner, a Memphis Negro, who was denied service by Dobbs Houses, Inc., which leases restaurant facilities at the Municipal Airport.

The court acted on a summer backlog of about 200 cases, announcing without comment which were accepted and which rejected. Then it heard its first argument of the term—an appeal by a group of Tennesseans who are seeking greater representation for city residents in the State Legislature.

Rejects Three Appeals
The court rejected three appeals by Louisiana from school segregation decisions of lower courts, and it denied a hearing to the Highlander Folk School, a racially integrated adult facility near Monteagle, Tenn. The school had contended that the state's revocation of the school charter was a penalty for its inter-racial policy.

The court took no action on a batch of new sit-in appeals from various cities. But arguments on three pending cases from Baton Rouge, La., are scheduled for next week.

The justices refused to reconsider their June 5 ruling requiring the Communist party to register with the government in accordance with the Subversive Activities Control Act. As a result, the party will have about 40 days to comply with the law.

Military Beefed In E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany today extended the length of military service beyond the regular two-year training period in a move to bolster East German armed might.

Three East German teen-agers made a daring escape to West Berlin across the Spree River. Communist gunfire forced them to abandon their motor boat 15 yards from the western bank of the river, but they swam the remaining distance without being hit.

The predawn escape was made by two boys, 16 and 17, and a 16-year-old girl who had eluded police over 10 miles of waterways from the East German town of Wildau. The shooting occurred at the same place where two refugees died last week trying to swim to the West. One was shot and the other drowned, apparently in panic.

East Germany's move in extending military service came at a time of Soviet bloc troop build-ups.

Gould Gets His Zoning On Camera

Los Angeles TV Covers Meeting For Racism

By PEYTON CANARY

As television cameras whirled, the city council last night voted to give Robert Gould a requested zone change from R-2 to R-3 for a five acre apartment project site in section 29, near Avenue 34.

Bob Stout, KTLA newsman, Los Angeles, Channel Five, set a crew of photographers and sound men in position to cover segments of the official conclusion of the on-air, off-air zone change.

It appeared the television crews had been alerted to overtones of racism and segregation. These were mildly inserted later by a negro minister, but they sounded hollow in the face of the council's action.

The council, which had an emergency ordinance prepared on the zone change, had to amend the ordinance for a normal two-reading passage because two members of the council were absent. An emergency ordinance requires six of the seven councilmanic votes.

Opposes Own Deal
Gould opened his presentation with the statement that 1.3 acres adjacent to the five acre parcel under consideration had been withdrawn by a "Thornton from New Orleans." He attacked the city planning commission recommendation that an R-3 zoning be given to 6.4 acres of land, including the five acre parcel.

"I don't want this (the 6.4 acre proposal) to go through, for if it does, I'll have to refuse it," Gould said. He emphasized the development was for "low rental people, regardless of who they are."

Later, Gould told Councilman Ted McKinney he had asked the R-3 change from R-2 because "people on Section 14 can't afford $125 a month rent." If he built an R-2 density development, he would have to pay for half of it himself, Gould said.

Recreation Area Hit
Gould emphasized to the council that his plan for a density of 120 units, compared to a normal allowable 217 for R-3 zoning on the five acres, is 49 per cent of the norm.

The Rev. George Scott, minister and public relations man, told the council "houses are necessary, not playgrounds." He warned that unless housing is under construction by the Dec. 31, 1961 deadline set by the Agua Caliente Indians for clearance of people from the southwest quarter of Section 14 the Negro people may move from Palm Springs.

FIELDS OF SNOW, just outside the Palm Springs city limits, were photographed yesterday by Don Landells, pilot for United Helicopters, who is hauling equipment up the mountain terminal of the San Jacinto Aerial Tramway. Landells said the mercury was at a chilly 30 degrees when he arrived with his first load of construction materials. Note the group of men and horses at the center of the picture. Prefabricated cabins that were flown to the construction site in sections and assembled may be seen to the left of the horses and next to the bush in the extreme right of the picture.

Volcano Engulfs Atlantic Island

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, (UPI)—The 295 residents of Tristan De Cunha, sometimes called "the loneliest island in the world," were moved safely today as a volcanic eruption engulfed the isle.

Residents were taken off the island in two fishing boats, British naval headquarters here reported. Tristan De Cunha, which lies in the middle of the South Atlantic is a British possession.

County Studies Sand Damages

RIVERSIDE — A request by the Palm Springs City Council that the board of supervisors take steps to eliminate the sand hazard at Rancho Ramon Estates on Ramon Road, east of Palm Springs city limits, was referred by the board Monday to the county road department for study and report.

The request stated that the city council is concerned over complaints by residents of the area and demands for relief from extreme sand hazard, "which appears to be the direct result of the disturbance of the surface soil by the Coachella Valley County Water District."

"We are concerned," said the council, "but our jurisdiction ceases at the city limits, so we are requesting the water district and the board of supervisors consider carefully the plight of these people and take steps for study and alleviation of the sand problem."

(In London, a spokesman for the British Admiralty said the frigate Leopard was speeding for the remote South Atlantic island with emergency supplies for the 266 residents.

The spokesman said the island's only two fishing boats, the Tristania and the Repetto, were attempting to take off the residents and remove them to Nightingale Island, 20 miles away.

The Leopard ploughing through heavy seas, was not expected to reach Tristan before Friday, the spokesman said. The next ship due to the island was the Dutch steamer Tjisadane, scheduled to arrive Wednesday.

Radio reports from Tristan De Cunha, a British weather station 1,750 miles southwest of Capetown and about halfway across the South Atlantic to South America, said the island's 6,000-foot volcano was spouting smoke and lava.

Jackie Better's Another Record

EDWARDS AFB (UPI)—Jacqueline Cochran, already the world's most outstanding aviatrix, bettered her 8-year-old 100-kilometer mark Friday by 132 miles an hour, it was revealed today.

Northrop Corp., which provided the T38 jet trainer in which Miss Cochran has set all her recent records, announced that she flew the 100-kilometer closed-course at an average speed of 784.337 m.p.h. Her old record, set in 1953 in a Canadian-built F85 fighter, was 632.552 m.p.h.

Yellow Stripes Draw Comment, But No Action

The new yellow lane stripes on Indian Avenue drew midnight comments but no resolutions from the city council Monday.

Councilman Ted McKinney, who told the council he had heard "some criticism" of the experimental striping, observed that "I thought we were just going to stripe one area." He added he thought "we've slowed it (traffic) down in some places."

Councilman Earle Strebe remarked that "turn lines are too ample," and suggested acting public works director Harold Stone check 8th Street in Riverside. Strebe suggested an eight-foot turn lane, but the council apparently concurred with Stone's contention that eight feet is too narrow for moving traffic.

Stone presented traffic count figures indicating that traffic on Indian Avenue has increased with the striping, from 1,000 cars an hour in March, 1959, to an average of 2,277 cars per hour in single lanes last weekend. By comparison, a count on North Palm Canyon Drive tallied 1,753 cars per hour, Stone said.

Stone emphasized that he has started "studies" on the new traffic control, but agreed the 17 feet traffic lanes, 12 feet turning lanes might be adjusted. He urged continued study before making changes. Stone reported that provisions are in the plans for left turns into some business parking lots in the 300 block of South Indian Avenue if "traffic warrants."

3-2 Vote Robs Spa Voters of Own Decision

The city council last night scrapped proposals that city voters be given a chance to decide in a Dec. 12 special election whether this city should adopt a council-at-large government. The action was taken over the protest vote of Mayor Frank Bogert, and followed a 3-2 override of efforts of Councilman Ted McKinney and Mayor Bogert to have the council-at-large issue put on the special election ballot.

McKinney voted for the redistricting ballot, Bogert against, after council members Earle Strebe, Harry Paisley and Mrs. Mary Cain voted down McKinney's motion — seconded by Bogert — for the council-at-large ballot issue.

Long Fight

McKinney told the council that he had fought for redistricting for nine and a half years, but added "I think election at large is better." He emphasized the measure, if approved by the voters, would give representation all over the city.

"We won't have people fighting for political plums, or applying pressure from small groups," McKinney said in support of council-at-large government.

The Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce endorsed the council-at-large plan in a letter from manager Jimmy Cooper.

Councilman McKinney stressed that the new system would not equalize districts. "Current districts range from 48 per cent of the city voters down to three-plus per cent, and it is impossible to redistrict without excluding something," he said. The new redistricting plan, recommended by the city planning commission, would have variances from 5.8 per cent in one district, up to 24 per cent in another, he said.

Paisley Counters

Councilman Paisley, stating that "it seems Palm Springs had done very nicely under the present system," warned that a quorum of three members could rule the city, if the council-at-large system were adopted. State law provides for a five member council under the council-at-large method, which is mandatory in every general law city incorporated since Dec. 31, 1956, and used by all but six of more than 300 general law cities in the state.

"They could put a freeway right down Palm Canyon Drive if they were so minded," Paisley warned. He added that the council was given a popular mandate in the last election.

"Thirty-four per cent of the vote could well decide the future of Palm Springs" under the council-at-large system, Paisley warned.

Paisley stated the city council, which had won the district system under a requested State Assembly act, had subsequently obtained a state law requesting a three-fourths vote to change the districts, and then obtained a plan

Westview Issue Causes Council Meet Hassle

The city council refereed Monday night as charges and counter charges flew through the council chambers during the hearing the Westview Development Co. application for reconsideration council denial of a height variance for a planned cooperative apartment project on the city golf course.

The council concluded by tabling the matter to Nov. 13.

Dual Purpose

Prospective builder Dick Hanousek told the council the two-story and one-story architectural plan would serve a dual purpose of giving residents near a 15 foot dike an unobstructed view, and increasing architectural interest. Hanousek added the project would cost approximately $2.5 million and was approved in detail by the Federal Housing Authority.

Developer Arthur Leonard stressed that "not one objection" had been raised by the variance board, planning commission, or anyone in the area. The quiet ended soon thereafter.

Fears Precedent

Builder George Alexander, who reportedly is taking over the former San Gabriel Construction Co. fairway housing project for the State Mutual Savings and Loan, charged the multiple story construction would be setting a precedent, and smacked of "spot zoning" which he termed "vicious business" for Palm Springs. "Why doesn't Westview ask a zoning change?" he asked.

Leonard replied he only wanted 225 units, not 600, and added "we are unique."

City Attorney Jerry Bunker, on query from the mayor, told battlers that they "happily transgressed Roberts Rules of Order" in the public "private dispute." Bogert ruled attorney James Schlecht out of order, saying he attempted to discredit the firm on the basis of another problem.

The council discussed "extenuating circumstances" of the site topography before Councilman Earle Strebe countered a motion to deny the variance with the motion to table the matter to Nov. 13. Strebe explained he would either get the tabling action or vote to deny the variance.

Legal Wrangling On Red Sign Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another long round of legal wrangling shaped up today in the government's fight to make the Communist party register as a tool of Russia.

The Supreme Court ushered in the new round Monday when it refused to reconsider its June 5 decision that the party must register.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy promptly announced "we will enforce the law." Communist party leaders said they would defy the ruling.

The attorney general has said he expects a long battle through the courts to obtain compliance with the 1950 Internal Security Act, which the Supreme Court upheld.

One Lead Out in Student Deaths

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — Chapel Hill police Monday ruled out one possible lead in the deaths of two North Carolina University students Friday from a dose of cyanide, but they expect more information on the case today.

Results of tests on foodstuffs which may have been eaten by the students were expected later in the day.

"To say that districts are not the right thing is the same as saying Rhode Island shouldn't have two senators because California only has two," Paisley said.

Bogert told the council he considered council-at-large elections "more democratic," with every voter voting on every council member.

If city voters approve the re-districting measure, Ted McKinney's giant district one is the only one which decreases in voter size. District three remains the same, and the other five increase in voter size.

Wreck Victim Hospitalized

INDIO — Paul Newlon, 17, of Indio, who received major injuries at 4:30 a.m. Sunday, when he apparently fell asleep, crashing his car through large rocks near Cactus City, is still in Casita Hospital, according to a hospital spokesman.

Monty Matis, 18, of Bell, a passenger in Newlon's car, received minor injuries, the California Highway Patrol said.

Minor injuries were received at 5:15 p.m. Saturday by 20-year-old Linda Greaves, 585 Calle Palo Fierro, Palm Springs, and her mother, Mrs. Emily Greaves, when their car was struck by a hay bale on Highway 111, near Rancho Mirage.

The CHP reported the hay broke loose from a truck driven by Robert Baliff, 39, Banning, and spun across the road into the path of the car driven by Linda. Miss Greaves' car was damaged on the left side and left front. Baliff was cited for an unsafe load.

Castro Charges U.S. Is Training Invaders

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government charged Monday night the United States is training invaders at 30 points in the Caribbean area for "large-scale aggression" against Cuba.

Acting Foreign Minister Carlos Olivares told foreign diplomats at a 90-minute meeting the prospective invaders are being trained at 20 places in the United States—mostly in Florida—and 10 U.S.

or foreign bases around the Caribbean.

Olivares said the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba is one of the places where attackers are being trained.

He asked the diplomats to report the charges to their governments.

"We are on the eve of another aggression from imperialism, this time bigger than the one Cuba suffered last April," Olivares said. "Let the world know who is the aggressor."

"The world knows it is better to die on one's feet than to live on one's knees."

In connection with the recently reported "plot to assassinate" Castro, Olivares said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is planning to wipe out leaders of the Castro government.

Cabazon School District Cut By Supervisors

School children in the Whitewater-West Palm Springs area, now attending Cabazon schools, will next year attend schools in the Banning district. County supervisors Monday approved a transfer of a large slice of territory north and east of Cabazon to the Banning district.

Glenn Payne, speaking for Cabazon interests, declared the move will be fought in the courts. He said that the Cabazon district is now completely encircled by the Banning district, blocking any plans for Cabazon to join the Palm Springs Unified School District.

gessman told of some of his work in getting legislation beneficial to the 29th Congressional District, especially touching on the new date bill, which was referred to as one of the best legislative acts taken through the U. S. Legislature.

The other congressmen each had a word to say to praise Congressman Saund, and told of his support by them that has been shown in the past congress.

The chief speaker was Senator Clair Engle who referred briefly to the loss of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn "who will not be with us next when the Congress convenes." The Senator said that a good foreign relations program was very important and that the American people are ready to stand with President Kennedy to meet all future challenges.

Palm Springs land planner Hy Ranes asked the Senator and Congressman about the civil defense program and how it was being handled by the Federal government.

The Senator said that the United States was going to spend $250 million for fallout shelters in government institutions, as well as using the money to provide literature and brochures for private fall-out shelters.

Congressman Sisk said that the Solons were attempting to get a federal agency, such as FHA to back home loans so that families could build their own shelters, as the evacuation of large cities is no longer considered feasible.

Congressman McFall said that President Kennedy will announce a complete civil defense program especially touching on private and community shelters within the next few weeks.

The group left here shortly after 3 p.m. for a reception in Riverside and a rally at Arnold Heights School near March Air Force Base, last night.

At the meeting last night, the Senator said that a $4 million hospital for March Air Force Base "is a cinch for passage next year." More than 400 persons attended the meeting last night.

Polidor Used Ax On His Loved One

RIVER VALE, N.J. (UPI) — With a performer's love for adulation, Edward Guillaume played the clown in front of neighborhood children for free when he could no longer get money from the circus.

He was too old, too sick to perform now as he had as "Polidor the Clown" for a generation of Americans, for royalty and for a President.

And then the women he loved told him the same bitter thing — he was too old. It was too much for the 69-year-old Polidor.

In a statement to police Monday, Guillaume said he grabbed a heavy ax and struck Mrs. Eleonora Gabriella Nelson, 49, a divorcee and veteran circus performer, in the neck. She was killed instantly in the kitchen of the home she had shared with Guillaume for the past seven years.

Still enraged at Mrs. Nelson's disclosure that she no longer cared for him — that he had become too old for her — Guillaume said he then stuck several kitchen knives into the woman and slit her throat.

After the slaying, the man described by Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi as a "down-and-out clown," tried to blow himself up with a stage prop bomb, the type he once used to make a big noise and give off a lot of smoke to provoke laughter. This time it was a dud and Guillaume surrendered quietly to police.

It was the end of a career that began 57 years ago in his native France, spanned five continents and included performances before President Franklin D. Roosevelt, King George of Greece and Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany.

Crosson Wins Continuance

William F. Crosson Monday won a third continuance in his fight against 26 counts of a federal grand jury indictment charging him with sending obscene matter through the mails.

Crosson was appointed city public works director here last April but was indicted before he was scheduled to take office at the city hall in May.

Attorney Stanley Fleishman, representing Crosson, Monday in U. S. District Court in Los Angeles, filed a motion for dismissal of the charges. The case was set for Monday, Oct. 23 in U. S. court for arguments on the motion. Fleishman's motion is based on technical legal points.

Crosson, who twice before had been scheduled to enter a plea to the charges, has not yet entered an answer having won three continuances.

over at 1329 Camino Primrose, Palm Springs, are Nanci Hodges and Adena McDowell, beauticians at one of the better salons in The Village. They were welcomed Tuesday by their landlord, James G. Bankson, an apartment operator in the Manhattan, Hermosa and Redondo Beach area as well as here in the desert.

'Miss Sun Break' Will Arrive Here Tonight

Susan Ann Henryson, vivacious 19-year-old native of California who was "Miss California" in the Miss America Pageant and who won many honors in the contest in which she was semi-finalist, will arrive at Palm Springs Airport tonight.

She is the symbol of the annual Western Air Lines "Sun Break" campaign, designed to lure wintertime vacationists to Palm Springs. Robert Cheadle, the company's local sales manager, said:

Accompanied by Arthur F. Kelly, WAL vice president - sales, and Mason Mallory, airline sales promotion manager, Miss Henryson will visit local tourist mecca before embarking on a personal-appearance program throughout the northern tier of U.S. states and Canadian provinces where she will promote travel to Palm Springs.

"Miss Sun Break" will be welcomed to Palm Springs by Mayor Frank Bogert, who will authorize her to invite northern area residents to visit the city this winter.

N. Palm Springs Chamber to Meet

NORTH PALM SPRINGS — Al Scharf, president of the NPS Chamber of Commerce, Inc., has called the first chamber meeting of the season for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 17 at 17401 Keith St. Scharf said there is a heavy agenda.

One of the speakers will be Vardie Lawrence, Palm Springs District Boy Scout executive, Scharf said.

On Wednesday, Kelly will introduce Miss Henryson to members of the Palm Springs Rotary Club meeting at the Chi Chi Restaurant. On Thursday, she will meet Lions Club members who will hear Kelly report on results of last year's "Sun Break" program and outline enlarged plans for the 1961-62 campaign.

According to Cheadle, the 1961-62 "Sun Break" program sponsored by Western will be the most comprehensive promotion in the airline's long history of travel campaigns. For the next several months, the company will conduct special advertising, publicity and promotion drives throughout the western U.S. urging residents to escape the rigors of winter by taking "a sun break."

Boosters Want Academic Achievement Recognized

By GENE JOHNSON

A request that students' academic, as well as athletic achievements, be recognized, will be placed before the Palm Springs Unified School District board of trustees following action last night by the local Boosters' Club.

The proposal was made at a meeting of some 25 members of the group at their regular meeting by Dr. William Aikin. Although it was not so stated, the discussion suggested that a "letter" be given for such achievement similar to that given for athletics.

The club is a group of local citizens which has primarily backed the school's athletic teams in the past. However, the constitution of the group states that it pledges its "entire support to the scholastic and athletic activities" of the district.

The exact nature and method of the academic recognition was not spelled out by the group at its meeting last night, but President Walter Colglazier appointed a committee to make specific recommendations. It is made up of Dr. Aikin, Roy Grow and Sam Howe.

For several years, the club has sponsored banquets following the football season. It helps defray the cost of filming football games and promotes attendance at games.

The members voted at the meeting last night to pay for post-game snacks for the varsity football players following the game with Hemet on Friday night.

The agenda also included a protracted discussion on methods of liaison with the school board.

Indio Man in Death Leap

Jacob Edward Apodaca, 43, of Indio, was dead today, the result of an attempt to escape from the County Hospital at Riverside. Apodaca, authorities said, apparently thought he was on the first floor of the building when he jumped out of a window.

Instead, he was on the fourth floor. He struck his head on a cement slab when he leaped from the window. The Indio man was serving a 30-day sentence on a peace disturbance charge and had been hospitalized earlier for head injuries suffered when he fell in his jail cell.

Undergoes Surgery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, who underwent brain surgery Saturday, is expected to be discharged from Montefiore Hospital within a week. A hospital spokesman said today the 64-year-old diplomat was "doing fine."

Television In Review

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whatever else free access to West Berlin may represent to the Western Allies, it must rate as TV's secret programming weapon these days.

Look at the excitement Jack Paar generated by traveling there. And now comes Ed Sullivan to give his Sunday night CBS-TV forum at a badly needed lift by visiting the beleaguered city.

In Sullivan's case, the object was entertainment for about 6,000 appreciative U.S. and Allied servicemen and friends who gathered in the Sportsplatz to watch the all-star show. Sullivan offered no political pronouncements and simply confined himself to introducing such performers as Louis Armstrong, Maureen O'Hara, a Parisian dance troupe called "The Bluebell Girls," singer Connie Francis, Van Cliburn and the comedy team of Rowan and Martin.

Incidentally, the hour was rewarding in another way. For once, televisioners were able to hear what it is that Sullivan says to the artists as he shakes hands with them after they complete their turns. He told Van Cliburn, "You've added a very fine dimension to this show." Just as I thought.

Another Sunday show that used the Berlin command for an audience was the "Du Pont Show of the Week."

"U. S. O. — Wherever They Go!" produced by NBC-TV by John Aaron and Jesse Zousmer of "Person to Person" fame, was a tribute to the 20th anniversary of the service organization. They reeled off miles and miles of ancient film footage showing Jack Benny, Dick Powell, Danny Kaye, Joe E. Brown, Ray Bolger, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Mickey Rooney, Marlene Dietrich, Dinah Shore and other stars in action before World War II G. I. audiences.

The accent was on the stars, not on the accordion players and jugglers who also carry the U. S. O. banner on high. Highlights of the hour were Marilyn Monroe shimmieing in Korea, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme swinging in West Berlin last summer.

Rather than fill the time with flesh-and-blood anecdotes, the program spent a great deal of time saluting the stars with shallow, obviously uninformative and repetitious little speeches. But Debbie Reynolds, Joe E. Brown and Dwight D. Eisenhower were among the few who supplied less mechanical comments — just enough to demonstrate what could have been done with a program of this sort.

Ceremony at Indian Wells Unites Pair

Only a few close friends, relatives and business associates were present Saturday when Shirley Dunfield and Cliff W. Brown said their vows before Bishop Richard L. Noves of the Church of Latter Day Saints.

The informal ceremony took place at Indian Wells Country Club in the glass-walled room that faces the pool and the waterfall. Introducing a touch of autumn, the baskets of tall sheaves of gladioli and chrysanthemums were in tones of yellow and gold that accented the sea green chiffon worn by the bride. She wore a corsage of white orchid and carnations.

Attending them were the Robert Carsons, and Jimmy Corner acted as usher. The bride's young son Buff handed over the bridegroom's ring, during the exchange of wedding bands. Her daughter Sherry, and younger son Rusty were also witnesses.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mesinger of Salt Lake City, attended University of Utah. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown of Palm Springs, attended Cronbrook in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. He is vice president of McFadden & Eddy Associates.

Following the ceremony, a wedding cake was cut and served with champagne before the newlyweds departed for San Francisco, where they are honeymooning at the St. Francis Hotel.

Celebrates on First Birthday

Mothers and their small children were invited to a coffee klatch, when Darcy Gladish daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Gladish of Plamor Ave., celebrated her first birthday.

While the mothers exchanged baby talk and compliments over coffee and doughnuts, the children enjoyed a birthday cake which was inscribed and decorated in pink and blue swirls.

Present at Darcy's first celebration were Mrs. Harold Stone and daughter Goodie; Mrs. Charles Kasmer and her children, Lisa, Wally and Joy; Mrs. Bob Downs with son Michael; Mrs. George Strebe with her sons Darren and George Jr.; and Mrs. Wayne Huffman.

All members of national social sororities, living, wintering or visiting in the desert area, are invited to attend, according to Mrs. Gerald Fostvedt, Panhellenic president. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. John C. Bernet at 325-2080.

Incoming board members will serve as hostesses and include: Mmes. Fostvedt, Francis Pruitt, John Shea, Harry Ramsey, Arnold Rumwell, R. S. Cosgrove, R. H. Lewis, James L. O'Reilly, Russell

Perkins, Randall Henderson and John C. Bernet.

Regular luncheon meetings are held on the second Thursday of the month throughout the winter season. While the purpose of the club is primarily social, there are two annual projects, a tea to benefit the locally-awarded scholarship fund, and a Campus Life Tea, to honor graduating senior girls, who are college bound.

The Don Stockers Purchase Home

The Don Stocker family is here to stay and has proved it by purchasing the Marvin Garfield home on Mirage Road in Rancho Mirage.

Stocker came to Rancho Mirage from La Jolla last May with his wife, Armita, and 12-year-old daughter, Sara Lynn, after having purchased a Cathedral City pharmacy.

Sara Lynn is a student at Nellie Coffman Junior High and the Stocker's second daughter, Susan Tibbitts, resides in Lancaster with her husband and two children.

Incidentally, pharmacists must have similar tastes. Marvin Garfield is also a purveyor of prescriptions.

Stars were twinkling overhead and the Chi Chi's Starlite Room was back to normal and starting another winter season with aplomb, at Friday night's opening.

Presenting Dorothy Dandridge's Revue as its stellar act, the opening night show deserved a good crowd . . . and had it. In the crowd were the Frank Scullys, J. L. Scudder (son of Laura Scudder,) with the Harry Rosens; Barney Adelaar with the Marty Cobins; Alan Ladd with Sam Vorzimmer; the George Foremans with Dorothy Wilson of Tacoma and John Anderson of Hollywood; and a party which included Dr. and Mrs. Julius Kaplan, the Stanley Rosins and Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Pitts. With Bill Alexander back, the dance floor was crowded.

Lou Mawby, Julian Stiff and LeRoy Burgener were receiving best wishes for another good season, providing entertainment for Palm Springs and its winter visitors.

A daughter, named Gretchen after her mother, was born to the Waltham Clarkes, making her debut on Sunday at Desert Hospital. Gretchen Jr. is a fourth child for the Clarkes and rounds out their score, with a boy, girl, boy, girl. The half a dozen Clarkes will make a picturesque group in those family styled Hawaiian outfits that Waltham imports.

Undismayed at the mountain of dirt that the street construction piled up in front of her Palm Canyon Drive shop, or the daily puzzle of how to reach the shop from her home in the Las Palmas area (this problem changes from day to day . . . with the street that let you through yesterday hemming you in today), Dorothy Gray Brown is back in town, after an around-the-world vacation trip.

Husband Harry Joe Brown is still in Spain but has set himself a goal of getting home for Christmas. For three months he's had that old manana trouble trying to get started shooting "Son of Captain Blood," and only this weekend did the cameras start rolling. Sean Flynn son of this original "Captain Blood," Errol Flynn, is playing the title role.

Home from Arica, where he has been visiting his brother, is Jock Williamson. Jock, who was looking very healthy and happy to be back, took off again almost immediately, to spend a long weekend in Santa Barbara with his friends the Kirk Johnsons, but should be home again tomorrow or the next day.

Bernice and Eddie LeBaron, who spent much of their summer in Santa Barbara, are at their Palm Springs house on Mountain View Place for the winter.

The popular orchestra leader, who may or may not resume his "Fiesta" program on television, has agreed to emcee the annual Hat Parade luncheon at Chi Chi on Nov. 4.

Vivian and Glenn Austin started their series of Saturday night dinner parties this weekend at their Prescott Drive home. En-

Sheets wear longer if they are rotated in use. Place newly-laundered ones at the bottom of the pile when you store them.

Mirrors, paintings with deep perspective, and some scenic wall papers seem to extend a room.

Anita Jo Ross Is Bride of D.P. Pridemore

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Ross of Thousand Palms, announce the marriage of their daughter Anita Jo Ross to Danny P. Pridemore, son of the Fred Pridemores of Indio.

For her wedding, before Judge Wallace Rouse in his Indio Chambers, the bride wore a light blue frock with white accessories. Mothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Pridemore, served as witnesses.

The bride, whose family has lived in Thousand Palms for 12 years, attended Palm Springs High School.

The newlyweds are at home on the Olympic Ranch on Dillon Road near Indio, where he is employed by Indio Imports.

The Will of the Minority

No better case for the council-at-large form of government could have been made than the action of the Palm Springs City Council last night in refusing to submit it to the voters for their decision.

Here, the councilmen who wished to put the proposition on the ballot, McKinney and Bogert, represented in their present districts 70 percent of the registered voters of Palm Springs. They were outvoted by Councilmen Carlin, Paisley and Strebe whose combined constituency totalled 23.4 percent of the voters.

If this is the balanced representation which ward politics give to this city, two and two no longer equal four.

Will the proposed redistricting correct this imbalance? We think not.

In the proposed ordinance for redistricting which will come up on the ballot December 12, District 4 will still have but 5.3 percent of the registered vote, District 5 will have 23.4 percent . . . nearly five times as much.

This is gerrymandering, disguise it as you will. It will show, if passed, in future council decisions wherein a majority of councilmen representing a minority of voters, can band together to outvote the bulk of the registered voters.

The proposed redistricting is not only inequitable, it is out of date before it is considered by the voters. It, too, will be revised regularly and periodically at costly special elections to preserve existing councilmanic seats under the guise of equalization.

This is why the refusal of the council to submit the truly representative form of government to the voters for THEIR decision is incredible.

That is why, too, even before the council adjourned last night, there was talk in the council chambers of having an initiative petition prepared to force the issue in the open for the decision of ALL the voters.

This may be the only way Palm Springs can leave the ranks of the seven general law cities in California which have the archaic ward system and join the 372 who elect their council by a city-wide vote.

It's worth some study but it urgently needs early study, if at all.

Time's a-wastin!

It's Not That Fast

This is the jet age and, as Bob Considine wrote the other day, the jets have shrunk the world to the size of a pea.

But, even at that, we don't think it has reached the stage suggested by a teen-age school boy in Red Deer, Alberta, Canada.

He wrote The Desert Sun circulation department asking for a copy of the paper.

He said he wanted to read the want ads. "I need a job after school in the afternoons," he said. "I would like to see what Palm Springs has to offer."

This is the age of speed, all right, but we don't think it's quite that fast—to provide a job evenings after school for a boy in Alberta, Canada.

Choo Choo Chicken

This story comes from the poultry yard. Two chickens meet. Each goes to a separate corner in the hen house. Then they rush at each other. The first one to step aside is called a "teen-ager."

News dispatches tell of a new teen-age game. Two youths stand on a railroad track as a fast streamliner, clicking it off at 80 miles an hour approaches. The first to jump away is scornfully labelled "chicken."

That probably wouldn't be so bad if confined just to the teen-agers. But think of the poor engine crew. They have to have sturdy hearts to survive. The kids probably think the first one to apply the emergency brakes is a candidate for the barnyard appellation.

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the men's retail clothing business, and would like to know what has happened to the backbone of the American male? He doesn't seem able to think for himself any more.

About ten per cent of the men who come in are unable to choose their own clothing without a final okay from their wives who fancy themselves experts on fabrics and style. The other ninety per cent have nothing to say about fit, color or price. If the husband likes the suit, and his wife doesn't, he ends up buying what she likes. Many of my friends in the men's clothing business have told me they have noticed the same situation. Can you explain it?

CLOTHING SALESMAN
DEAR SALESMAN: Only a man who wants to please his wife will take her along when he buys a suit. He, in my opinion, is more of a man than the male who disregards all opinions but his own. More women would do well to take their husbands shopping. There would be fewer "mistakes" hanging unworn in the clothes closets of America.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is a good idea to make a husband jealous once in a while to keep him on his toes?

YOUNG WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Forget it. Instead of keeping him on HIS toes, you are apt to find him on YOUR heels.

DEAR ABBY: Have you a little space in your column for a tip that might save somebody's life or home? Tell women that if the grease should catch fire while frying or making doughnuts, a few big handfuls of flour or cornmeal will smother it fast. I put out a fire that way last week, and the blaze was two feet high. Thank you.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

To smooth traffic's flow, they painted new stripes
But what's flowing smoother are many loud gripes

Those new yellow lines on Indian Avenue are causing many people to see red.

BY LETTER, by telephone and by white hot vocal chords, the city's effort to smooth out the traffic pattern on Indian Avenue, is drawing comments, a few in favor, some mildly protesting but most of them vigorously expressing their adverse opinion.

Harold Stone, of the city's public works department, says the striping job isn't completed and that when it is, Indian Avenue will handle more traffic than before.

DOING A REVERSE on Dale Carnegie, today's treatise could be entitled "How to Antagonize People and Win Enemies," because I think the new idea is good and that it will keep traffic moving easier.

The claim is made that there is enough waste space in the middle of the thoroughfare for flower gardens.

Some of this space is where the turn lanes have been painted in. But there is a block or two which puzzles me. A wide space in the center of the street.

That's sort of tough to figure out — but the lanes were painted after a traffic survey and there's probably a reason. But the gripes are justified here.

THOSE TURN LANES may look like wasted space if you don't intend to turn. But they were designed to keep traffic moving.

The driver who is planning to turn gets out of your way by going into that space. There won't be these half block or longer tie-ups behind the man awaiting a chance to break through. One car won't hold up a dozen or more.

by traffic engineers as the most aggravating feature of heavy traffic. Where no provision is made for them, long tie-ups are the rule.

These lanes which look like waste space to some, will do much to speed up the smooth flow of traffic.

Turn lanes are being painted on important streets throughout the southland where traffic is heavy. And they certainly help to keep traffic moving and prevent frayed tempers.

SO, WHAT'S the difference? The protest is that these spaces leave only one lane. That's just what was left before these spots were painted in. When a driver planned to turn left, there was only one lane. The one he was in was effectively blocked for many car lengths.

The cars behind not only couldn't move but the drivers were seething.

IT COULD BE that some drivers do not like to have habits of years overturned. But Palm Springs is now a big city and getting bigger. Something's got to give and what was fine in 1941 is no good in 1961.

I remember one leading citizen of Palm Springs who had been accustomed to driving where he wanted to when he wanted to, for years.

When police first started erecting those "no left turn" signs at intersections during traffic jams, he made it a game to knock 'em over. Didn't mind losing a little paint.

THE POINT IS, according to my point of view, that the new striping was done after a survey of traffic. And I believe traffic engineers know more about it than I do. Or the average or garden variety of driver. Still you can't blame people for griping.

P.S. Traffic lights at busy intersections would help.

Fullbright Tells 'Em And Europe Believes

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
LONDON, England — Back home the Hon. J. William Fulbright is Senator from Arkansas, but over here he is signally the Senator from the United States.

By the time this column is in print, Fulbright will be on a pre-campaign tour to test how much the State wants to send him back in next year's election to the Senate. But in England, where I saw him in attendance at a British Commonwealth parliamentary conference, Fulbright, with his Oxonian background and his chairmanship of Foreign Relations, is everything the British could wish.

This is not entirely because the Senator's viewpoint so often coincides with that of Her Majesty's Government and Commonwealth. There's no doubt that this urbane and knowledgeable man is more in the Anglican mold than are most Southern Senators. As one who relishes unashamed provincialism and admires excessive nationalism, I sometimes wish that Bill Fulbright chewed tobacco and had at least one foot in the John Birch Society. But since he could not do these things and be the man he is, I think it right to say that we are lucky to have his brains and personality at bat for us in such conferences as this one.

Fulbright approaches the Commonwealth representatives with a little more frankness than tact, and he plays a very strong, pro-American hand of power poker. His message, given both in a formal address and in private talks, was critical of Britain for her insularity, of the Commonwealth nations for their short-sighted appetite for profits, of the Germans for their racial proclivity as trouble-makers and power-graspers.

The British, as Fulbright came very close to saying, owe it to their American and other Allies to throw themselves much more wholeheartedly into the Common Market and other continental ventures. The Senator told a lot of persons, including this one, that American spokesmen, like himself, have a right to meddle in European politics because of the huge investment our country has sunk there. He maintains that the British have two major roles in the Common Market. One is to prevent the Germans from being their historical selves and dominating France, Benelux and Italy in the West, while menacing Russia and the Balkans to the East. The other British role on the continent is to become a stabilizing influence upon the feverish French Republic.

Fulbright found the Commonwealth representatives with a usual mood. The chief objection of the Commonwealth to the Common Market appears to be the commercial one. Fulbright feels that a 200-million bloc of West Europeans, with economic unity and a single foreign policy, is the best bulwark between Russia and the English-speaking community of Britain, the USA, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

All of these non-European countries, he feels, stand to gain in military security more than they would lose in trade. The Senator is more sanguine here than his interviewer, but maybe he is also better informed. In any case, Fulbright at this conference was essentially arguing the pro-American cause. He was saying that we had done our share and more of warding off the Communists. He was putting the arm on Allied nations to make sacrifices and show initiative of their own.

Doesn't Like Germans

The Senator is very British-minded in one respect. He has little sentiment toward the Germans, who are the historical cause of the patched-up map of Europe and are now crying the blues over their disjointed condition. As early as 1948, Fulbright began to say that we should aid German recovery only with the prospect that Germany, in whole or part, should become a harmless segment of a larger political unit. This condition would be substantially satisfied, he says today, with West Germany incorporated in the Common Market with Britain.

The Senator is not moved by the walls from West Germany for reunification with East Germany. He feels that the Federal Republic has already given de facto recognition to Community Germany by carrying on a lucrative trade. The matter of de jure recognition lies far in the future. Meanwhile, the Foreign Relations Chairman would like it better if all the Western powers tone down their expressions of desire for German unity. It is not a realistic or justifiable aim of Western diplomacy.

Contrary to Allied dogma, West Berlin in Fulbright's mind is a separate problem. He reads into the President's UN speech an unqualified promise to maintain freedom of access between Berlin and the West. Before leaving Washington on this trip, Fulbright talked with Lord Home, British Foreign Minister, about the idea advanced in this column of moving the UN capital, or some of its agencies, to Berlin.

"Sounds a bit gimmicky," said his lordship. "But, you know, it might just be the proper thing to do."

The Great American Game Puzzle to Them

By BOB CONSIDINE

CINCINNATI — There's little chance that Gromyko will veto the verdict reached in this current World Series. He gave up on baseball some years ago. It baffled him more than, say, the concept of freedom.

"Why is that man just standing there?" Gromyko demanded darkly of his host at a game in the Yankee Stadium shortly after he first came to UN. The host, UN's genial, talented Andre Cordier to explain. Nobody, of course, can explain baseball to a foreigner, not even to a foreigner who speaks our language — such as Britons almost do. One has to have been born with baseball to understand it, apparently. This simple game is as complicated as Urdu.

Mr. Cordier was half-way through the laborious task of explaining why "that man" was just standing there (he was a third base coach) when Gromyko brushed it aside as irresponsible.

"Why was the ball thrown to that particular base?" he asked. That, too, involved an explanation which Gromyko found specious. But Mr. Cordier felt he might be getting somewhere when once again he was silenced. The pitcher had just struck out a slugger and there was much noise in the place.

"Why are the people shouting?" Gromyko demanded. "I see no reason to shout."

Why World Series? The Hearst task force that went to the U.S.S.R. in 1957 was invited to luncheon at the Soviet Embassy in Washington right in the midst of the 1957 Yankees-Braves series. Ambassador Menchikov, a horseplayer rather than a baseball fan (unlike former Ambassador Troyanovsky), steered the conversation to current events — and nothing was more current or less controversial than the series.

But one of his aides, perhaps polishing a red red apple, suddenly blurted:

"How dare you Americans call what is being played a World Series? Nobody plays this game except Americans. Why do you make it appear that the whole world is involved in these eliminations?"

It was a tough one to answer. But, curiously, another Russian answered it. There are happy-talking Russians, too, we've found. Not many, true, but some. He spoke up and said to his colleague:

"Don't get upset, Dmitri. Now, we have a game called Tat, played nowhere else on earth. Why don't we just declare a world series involving Tat. That should take care of the claims of the American World Series of baseball."

Tried to explain one of the simplest phases of baseball to a British Bobby during the war. It was 1943. The Army Eighth Air Force team, managed by former Washington pitcher Monte Weaver, was meeting the Army Ground Forces' team at London's Wembley. A makeshift diamond and foul lines had been marked off on the sainted stadium turf. There must have been 40,000 spectators, including George VI, but if any of them knew anything about what was going on he surely held his peace.

your great-grandnanny could catch with one hand tied behind were rewarded with standing ovations and cries of "Well done!" "Wizard!" "Stroodnary!"

To my astonishment, thousands began leaving the stadium in the late innings of what turned out to be a no-hitter for the Air Force pitcher. I wandered through the place, troubled that there could be so little rapport between the two great English-speaking and sports-loving nations, and finally struck up a conversation with a bobby near the King's box. It went something like this:

"How are you enjoying the great American national pastime?"

"Sorry, cawn't make head nor tail of it."

"But it's so simple! Now, here comes a new batter up to the plate. He's going to try to hit the ball safely between those infielders and outfielders so that he can run to that base down there before any of them can throw the ball there."

"Yes . . ."

"Now, he must hit the ball between those two long white lines that are marked on the turf. We call them foul lines. If he fails, it is called a strike. Three strikes are out. But if the pitcher — let's call him the bowler — doesn't deliver the ball over the plate on four occasions before the three strikes, or a hit, the batter is entitled to a walk. He goes to first base free, see?"

"Well . . ."

Third Foul Did It

The batter fouled off the first two, after which the bobby cried, "Now I'm getting it. Two strikes on this lad. One more and he is retired."

I began to pray the bum wouldn't hit another foul, but he did. "Three strikes, the man is retired!" the bobby shouted happily. "Now I understand this game."

I swallowed noisily.

"No, he's not retired," I said. "We have another little rule that states . . ."

"Oh, to hell with it!" the bobby thundered and stalked off.

Men, Here's Eastern View On Fall Styles

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The men's clothing industry estimates that 85 per cent of the suits being sold this fall are still the conservative three-button Ivy cut. The rest are the two-button suit made popular by President Kennedy and the so-called "English look."

The English look is confined mostly to tweedy sports jackets and get their names from a nipped-in waist, flapped and slanting pockets and double vents in the back. The double vents are really for riding a horse, or hacking, so they are called hacking jackets.

You can also do the English look with short overcoats called short war-is, raglan shoulder top coats, raincoats with a lot of leather buttons and a broad belt, somewhat pointed toes on your shoes or by wearing a hat with what is called a delta brim.

Business Suits, Too

The look extends into business suits, too, and if the suit has a couple of vents in the back and flapped and slanted pockets it's called the English look no matter what the English think of it.

The English look isn't especially new. That tweedy, lived in look has been around for a couple of centuries, especially in Scotland. For that matter, the two-button suit isn't really new either although it may not have been around as long as hacking jackets.

Some of the top tailors in New York have been making two-button suits for years, though on such conservative lines you would have to look twice to realize it wasn't the same conservative three-button Ivy suit that has been around the better shops for several decades.

Norman Bloch, one of the brothers who runs Dunhill Tailored Clothes, Inc., an establishment that invariably brings up the well-worn word posh, says he has been wearing two-button suits for the past five years or so.

"I did it to get away from the Ivy League look," he said. "But they are very conservative—and still somewhat different. Now we are getting more and more calls for two-button suits, thanks to the President, but about 85 per cent are still three-button."

J. Press, which along with Brooks Brothers, are the high priests of the Ivy look, reports no demands for two-button suits by the ultra-conservative customers who frequent the Yale, Harvard and Princeton Clubs in New York. They've worn three-button suits for generations and don't plan to change.

Brooks, on the other hand, has suddenly turned up with a two-button suit. They call it in jest and only among themselves their "Frontier Suit" and say they have been working on it for years. Their chief buyer, Al Zoilo, says they experimented with some two-button suits in the past but found them a little extreme for Brooks.

Eighty-five per cent of their customers wear the traditional three-button suit, he explains, but

Mississippi Gets Top Rating in Football Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mississippi, possessing a high-scoring offense and a stingy defense, today ranked as the nation's No. 1 major college football team in the United Press International's second weekly ratings.

Mississippi, a 33-0 winner over Florida State last Saturday for its third victory in a row this season, received 24 first place votes from the 35 coaches, representing seven geographical sections of the country. The Rebels, who now have an unbeaten string of 18 straight games, accumulated a total of 316 points.

Ole Miss replaced Iowa as the nation's top ranking team as the Hawkeyes, who just managed to

INDIANS DEFENSE PLAY CHEERING TO COACH

Even though his team gave up two touchdowns to the San Jacinto Tigers last Friday night, Palm Springs High School Coach Dick Bunting was cheered by the work of his defensive squad.

He told the local Boosters Club last night that "putting a certain group on defense and another on offense worked well" and that he thought it helped some of the boys to work on just one team. "Some of the fellows even like defense better than offense," he said.

With an undefeated Hemet team coming away from home Friday night, Bunting wants his team to be "up." "If Hemet ever gets started, they'll be tough to stop," he said. He expects a running game as the Bulldogs tried only

Yankees Back On Top of Baseball Heap

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The New York Yankees are back on top of the baseball world — carried there for the first time in three years by a new manager and that old-fashioned Yankee power.

Scarcely had this super-charged team of sluggers completed the rout of the Cincinnati Reds with Monday's World Series clinching 13-5 victory than General Manager Roy Hamey and Manager Ralph Houk clasped hands in a gesture that cemented the new front office-manager combination for perhaps years to come.

"You did a tremendous job," Hamey told Houk. "I've never worked with a better fellow."

Moments later Hamey said that Houk, who took over the difficult job of following in the footsteps of Casey Stengel this year, will receive a substantial pay raise for the 1962 season. Houk, who got an estimated $35,000 this year, undoubtedly will be moved into the $50,000 class.

Victory Vindicates Owners
The series triumph was a vindication for co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb, too, because they were unduly criticized when they let the fabulously successful Stengel go after he had led the Yankees to 10 pennants in 12 years. Both were in the Yankee clubhouse immediately after the game to congratulate both Hamey and Houk.

It marked a return to glory for the Yankees for the first time since 1958 when they beat the Milwaukee Braves in a seven-game series. The Yankees failed to win the pennant in 1959 and lost a seven-game World Series to the Pittsburgh Pirates last year.

Houk was obviously delighted but side-stepped when asked whether this was the best Yankee team he ever saw.

"I'd say the first nine was," he replied. "It has more power than any other Yankee ball club I can ever remember. The pitching doesn't have the experience that some of our other Yankee clubs had."

That comment undoubtedly means that the Yankees — who never stand pat, win or lose — will be active in the trade markets this winter in an attempt to bolster their pitching staff.

Old Yankee Power
But in the final analysis it didn't make much difference whether Yankee pitching was outstanding or not in the World Series. It was that old-fashioned Yankee power — the long ball threat from top to bottom — that resulted in the five-game rout.

Rival Manager Fred Hutchinson was among the first to concede that fact: "The long ball — that was the difference in the series," he said.

JV Game With Hemet Tomorrow

This week's home opener for the Palm Springs High School Junior Varsity will be held Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday, at the school field. Game time: 6 p.m.

Because of the school holiday Thursday, the game is up-dated. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged adults.

JV Coach Cal Farley calls the game, scheduled with Hemet JV, a "severe test." He said Hemet might be "the best team we'll play all year."

four passes last week against Bunting — and completed only one of those.

Indians Better Balanced
"We're a better balanced team than Hemet," he told the Boosters, "and we've got more than an even chance."

Bunting was encouraged by the improvement made by his team over the past three weeks and said "we won't be able to make many mistakes against Hemet."

Earlier, the coach had singled out the offensive play of Mark Edwards, Luke Imboden, Lee Lamb, Pete Borak and Bob Duran in the San Jacinto game. "Most of those fellows are linemen who don't get mentioned as much as they should."

Some fine defensive work was turned in by John Naylor, Mike Fontenot, Bill Aussicker, Frank Fisher, Stan DeGrucio, and Wayne Bussberg, Coach Bunting said.

Meet An Indian

MARK EDWARDS, halfback, uniform No. 22 drew praise from Coach Bunting for his fine play against San Jacinto. A senior, Mark lives in Desert Hot Springs.

BEVERLY HANSEN, one of the nation's top women golfers, looks over the ninth fairway with J. E. Gurley, owner-developer of Indio's new Westward Ho golf course. Miss Hansen will assume the duties of club professional on Oct. 15.

Opening Round Tennis Tourney

Opening play in the City Tennis tomorrow night at the Racquet Club, Tournament gets underway today by Howard Haddock, city recreation director and co-chairman of the event.

The draw was held yesterday with co-chairman David Gillam and opening round play was announced as follows:

Gary Grossman vs. Jack Miles; Don Williams vs. Fred Rubin; Gene Neischuler vs. David Teitlebaum; and Steve Rosin vs. Don Pletz, all at 5 p.m.

Bob Schlesinger vs. Briggs Bosworth; and Eric Teitlebaum vs. Chuck Jandreau, all at 6 p.m.

Other players entered in the men's singles are Maurice Smith and Bill Hays, who drew byes in the first round.

Draws will be held for other divisions in the annual city tournament tomorrow. These include mixed doubles and men's doubles. Play will get underway in these divisions Thursday.

Haddock reported that there will be no women's singles this year since a minimum of eight entries must be received to hold a division of play.

Prizes will be awarded to winners by the city's recreation department.

Bantams, Juniors to See Bowling Films

Junior and Bantam bowlers may sign up to see a moving picture, "Learn to Bowl" at PS Lanes next Saturday. The films are shown after league play for the youngsters each week.

Last bantam play saw Milo Janis and Jean Chalfont tie for high game at 152. In the junior division, Chuck Garland turned in top score at 181, with Milton Salway heading series play at 466. Other high games were rolled by John Bunker and Lee Weigel, who tied at 174.

New Teams In 'Bargain Hunt' Today

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Gil Hodges and Norm Sherry are expected to be among the first "bargains" snapped up today when the National League's two newest teams — New York and Houston — select their players from a special pool priced at more than $4-million.

President George Weiss of the New York Mets will choose the players for his club and General Manager Paul Richards of the Houston Colts will pick for his team, each of them to select in alternate order.

Between them, Weiss and Richards could spend as much as $4,200,000. Under the rules laid

BULLETIN

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The Houston Colts today selected infielder Eddie Bressoud of the San Francisco Giants and the New York Mets chose catcher Hobie Landrith, also of Giants, as their first players today in the $4,200,000 player draft to stock the two new National League baseball clubs.

The Colts, with General Manager Paul Richards doing the picking, chose Bob Aspromonte, Los Angeles infielder, as their second choice, while George Weiss, who did the picking for the Mets, second baseman Elio Chacon of the Cincinnati Reds.

down to them, each must spend $1,700,000 or a total of $3,400,000.

Hodges, a long-time favorite in Brooklyn who has been serving the Los Angeles Dodgers, is certain to be picked by the Mets because of his tremendous appeal in New York.

Sherry, also with Los Angeles and the brother of pitcher Larry Sherry, is in demand by both new clubs because of the scarcity of front-line catchers in the pool.

Among some of the other better known players who will be up for grabs at $75,000 apiece are Robin Roberts of the Phillies, Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals, Johnny Antonelli of the Braves, Richie Ashburn of the Cubs, Sam Jones of the Giants and Gus Bell of the Reds.

The Mets and the Colts are obliged to pick 16 players apiece from the eight other NL clubs at a cost of $75,000 each. Then both new clubs may choose eight more players priced at $30,000 each if they wish.
